Your Life Planner should only be used as a helpful guide. At all time, it is for you to choose the best path to follow from what is written below and develop the most positive and rewarding parts of your character.

Retrograde Planets and Why Interpretations Repeat

The word, 'retrograde' means, quite simply, 'directed or moving backward'. Planets don't actually move backward but a complex astronomical process causes some to appear to do so at times – similar to the effect of two trains moving in the same direction and one at a slower speed, or what we see when we look out of the window of a car overtaking another. Briefly, both the slower train or car being overtaken appear to be moving backward.

Each planet in your natal chart represents a particular 'energy'. Retrograde planets, although regarded as being in a 'weakened state' astrologically because energies are drawn inward, offer wonderful opportunities for growth and shouldn't be seen as negative in a natal chart. Retrograde planets hold great astrological significance as they offer opportunities to reflect upon actions or decisions in the past that correlate to the planet's energies and qualities – and what needs to be reassessed and can be improved once the planet moves 'forward', or 'direct'.

Although retrograde planets do not deny us opportunities, they can delay key events in our lives. People with many retrograde planets in their natal chart often must experience steep learning curves before they can experience success in the area of their chart affected by one or more retrograde planets but will have benefited enormously from reflection, assessment and valuable lessons learned along the way!
